

LOCAL COMMUNITY PROJECTS

Each PNO employee will two days annually work for a local community project. The local initiatives are secured through project ambassadors at each PNO office and an anchor person at Group level.

Group Office & DK Office

The two offices will collaborate on a sustainable farming project in Sjællands Odde, DK. The farm Nordgaarden will function as a meeting space for the entire PNO organization.

The approximately 20 PNO employees from Group and DK will two days a year participate in the operation of the farm and continuously establish new projects.

An agronomy consultancy, will assist in the design of the farming project, while local biodynamic farmers from will help run the daily operation. The long term project will continue to push forward on our local sustainable journey where we aim at involving the team's family as well.

NO Office

The Norwegian PNO office is partnering up with the international environmental organization Clean Shores Global to establish a local initiative in Langhus. The three employees of PNO NO will two days annually collect trash at the local shores of Langhus to improve the wildlife's conditions. PNO will as a partner further promote the organization within the local community and help strengthen the awareness of both the local project, the global organization, and the overall environmental threat of waste washed ashore. PNO will act as local project manager to continually grow the project by getting more companies and people involved year after year.

FI Office

PNO Finland and the local municipality have together decided to establish a waste collecting project. The municipality has pointed out large illegal junkyards in the forest where especially household appliances are left. PNO FI will contribute with trailers, trucks, and 10 employees two days a year to empty the areas. When the project has been established, PNO will continue to onboard local companies to grow the amount of people participating in the two annual events.

SE Office & HSB Workshop

The PNO office and workshop in Helsingborg have together established the project "Operation Green Friday" where approximately 25 PNO employees collects trash in the local area to improve the conditions for wildlife and local citizens. The first event was held in November 2018. To scale the project, PNO SE will team up with the local initiative "I Love HBG". This will anchor the trash collecting activity as a fixed part of the local community calendar. Local business partners of PNO SE will further be invited and encouraged to participate in the event.

JKP Workshop, SE

The PNO workshop in Jönköping will contribute with a sorting station for the local cleaning day in May. The event is held annually, but all trash has until now been disposed into the same container. PNO SE wish to improve this by establishing a sorting station, where they help organize the trash into the correct categories. The initiative is planned in collaboration with the local municipality.

NL Office

The PNO NL office located in Venlo is teaming up with an existing waste collecting event, where companies and people together collect trash left in the local area. The collaboration is still in an early stage, but PNO plan to create a new initiative with focus on waste from the transport industry. PNO has multiple contacts within the transport industry in the area, who will be invited to participate as well. Besides the contribution of work hours to the event, the involvement of local transport businesses will also impact the mindset of those and increase focus on sustainability and responsible behaviour in the transport industry.
